

It's time to take action again!

8th February 2018

The AMIEU have written to the company yesterday rejecting the company's latest offer.

In December we had an agreement in principle with JBS and then in late January we received the draft for such proposal.

The drafted document did not reflect what we had agreed upon, and other changes (that had not been previously discussed) were slipped into the document.

The company then produced another draft, and another, and another..... we are now on draft number 20.

The workers of Bordertown have waited long enough for the company to produce a roll-over document.

The membership does not seek major changes and is only looking for a pay rise, and to correct the rate of pay for overs that were not increased in the last agreement. (they have subsequently lost value and we must correct this)

The AMIEU on behalf of its members has given notice again to activate strike action.

This action can commence on Tuesday the 12th February 2019.

As with previous action the delegates on site shall instruct members on the timing of the strike action on a daily basis.

Now is the time to join a friend and have them stand alongside of us for a pay rise. EBA MEETING ON SITE TUESDAY 12TH FEBRUARY 2019
